

Natureplank

There is no other place in the world like Australia...

Our natural flora, fauna and landscapes feature colours, textures and patterns of depth and complexity seen nowhere else in the world.

Kenbrock in conjunction with the Flooring Xtra retail group have developed this Natureplank range to reflect the beauty of our own unique country.

Barnwood from Malley, Kirri from the Alps, Brush Box and Gum to name a few. Add to this, comfort, affordability, resilience and ease of maintenance - Natureplank becomes a simple flooring choice for heavy domestic through to light commercial use.

The result is that you can enjoy all the realism of these distinctive wood grain patterns without the loss of a single native tree.

The smooth finish is ideal for allergy sufferers as there is nowhere for the mites and allergens to thrive.

In today's environment, Natureplank simply makes sense.

Phthalate Free

You can now be assured that the Natureplank phthalate free floor range your children are playing on has been manufactured applying the same safety standards set for making baby's bottles, toddler's toys, packaging for food and medical products.

This process also maximises it's flexibility and durability, prolonging it's life and beauty. Natureplank is manufactured utilising the latest technological advances that creates a superior construction which is easy to maintain and unlike timber and floating floor boards, won't chip, crack or splinter.

Natureplank products are finished with a Polyurethane (PU) coating that will help protect your flooring investment.

Protecting your Natureplank floor

All flooring does require some type of care to maintain it's beauty. Natureplank products are easy to care for and will provide many years of satisfaction by following some simple maintenance guidelines. These are available online at www.kenbrock.com.au or by asking your friendly Flooring Xtra retailer.
